THE DIGITAL MITFORD PROJECT

As we code digital editions of Mitford's texts we are assembling a detailed record of important people, places, and events, from which we have begun to develop network analysis graphs to help illuminate how the widely published Mitford connected with a wide range of correspondents and contemporaries around the world.

Please read our "About" page for more detail on our methods and practice.

Would you like to help with Digital Mitford project? There are many ways to get involved. To join our project as a scholarly editor, please follow our application process. If you want to send us research leads on Mary Russell Mitford and the people or places she knew, manuscript leads and text transcriptions, or a donation to the project, please send e-mail to Elisa Beshero-Bondar, tweet to @DigitalMitford, or post to:
